In recent decades, the world has changed dramatically; our knowledge of ourselves and our universe has increased, infrastructures have become globalized and technological developments have revolutionized the way we communicate with each other.

One consequence of these changes that has passed relatively unnoticed is that we each have an increasingly complex world to deal with in our daily lives, which can affect us in a number of ways – some of which may be detrimental to our well-being, and which we may not even have fully acknowledged.

On behalf of The Crisis Management and Disaster Response Centre of Excellence (CMDR COE), I would like to invite you at the upcoming 8th Annual CMDR COE conference on topic “Crisis and Disaster Management in 21st Century”. It will take place in Sofia, Bulgaria, from 2nd to 3rd June 2020.

The event is open to all NATO Nations and Partners, national and international organizations. It will be executed in the formula of plenary session and three panels as follows:

- I. Crisis Complexity in 21st Century
- II. Climate Change Implications on Security
- III. Recasting Strategy – A Human-Centered Approach to Security.

The working language will be English and translation services to and from other languages will not be provided. In regards to conference agenda and call for paper the CMD COE provides duly updates on its website www.cmdrcoe.org.

For more details, please do not hesitate to contact the POCs of the event – Colonel Dariusz DOBRON, dariusz.dobron@cmdrcoe.org or Lieutenant Colonel Svetozar BOSILKOV, svetozar.bosilkov@cmdrcoe.org.

Thank you in advance for considering this invitation.

I look forward to seeing you soon in Sofia.
